Architectural Style Queen Anne

This two-and-a-half story cottage has classic Queen Anne cross gable, vertical massing with steeply pitched roofs and a gable front that extends over the front porch. The porch has shingle clad knee walls (not the original cladding) and Doric columns supporting a shallow pitch roof. The wide stairs have shingle clad wing walls. The second-floor windows have angled muntins in the upper half, and there is a wide window with angled muntin pattern between two narrow double-hung windows in the center of the gable front. There is an arched vent at the top of the front and south gables.

Significant Features

- Cross-gable vertical massing with steep roof pitches and deep eaves that reach the top of the second- floor windows.
- Gable front that projects over the front porch with three windows in the center of the gable and arched opening at the top of the gable.
- Full width front porch (even though a portion has been enclosed) with knee wall and Doric columns.
- Windows with angled muntin pattern throughout the second floor, arched vents at the top of the east and south gables, end chimney in the north gable.

Condition

The cottage appears to be in good repair with no apparent issues.
